UNIT 1: THE CARIBBEAN IN THE ATLANTIC WORLD

INSTRUCTIONS TO CANDIDATES

1. You should spend 10 minutes reading through the paper before starting to write your responses.
2. Answer THREE questions, ONE on EACH module.
3. You must answer ONE document-based question and TWO essay questions.

SECTION A: MODULE 1

Answer ONE question only from this section.

Question 1

The extracts below relate to Spanish settlements in the Caribbean up to 1600. Study them, then answer questions (a) to (d) that follow.

Document I

I do not understand why so many Negroes have died: take good care of them.

*King Ferdinand I, King of Spain, to a Royal Official in Hispaniola, June 21, 1511 in Eric Williams, Documents of West Indian History
New York: A & B Books Publishers
First published 1963, reprinted 1994, p. 151.*

Document II

The price of Negroes has increased considerably, for they alone, and not the Spaniards, work. On behalf of all the Indies, we request a general reduction of the price and permission for Indians from Portuguese Brazil to enter this island.

*Royal Officials of Hispaniola to Charles V,
Holy Roman Emperor and King of Spain, March 30, 1550
in Eric Williams, Documents of West Indian History p. 151.*

Document III

It is idle to fear that the Negroes may rebel: there are widows living calmly in the Portuguese islands with as many as eight hundred slaves: everything depends on how they are governed. I found that on the arrival of some Spanish-speaking Negroes others fled to the hills: I whipped some, cut off the ears of others, and there were no further complaints.

*Alonso Zuazo, Judge of Hispaniola, to Cardinal Ximenes, Regent of Spain, January 22, 1518
in Eric Williams, Documents of West Indian History p. 155.*

SECTION B: MODULE 2

Answer ONE question only from this section.

Question 4

The extracts below relate to the economic cultures of enslaved peoples. Study them, then answer questions (a) to (d) that follow.

Document I

The way in which I made my money was this. – When my master and mistress went from home, ... I took in washing, and sold coffee and yams and other provisions to the captains of ships ... for I wanted, by all honest means, to earn money to buy my freedom. Sometimes I bought a hog cheap on board ship and sold it for double the money on shore...

Originally published 1831.

Document II

Besides the profits arising from their superabundance of provisions, which the better sort of Negroes are able to sell regularly once a week at Savannah La Mar [market], to a considerable amount, they keep a large stock of poultry, and pigs without numbers; which latter cost their owners but little...

Matthew Gregory Lewis, Esq M.P. Journal of a West Indian Proprietor, Kept During a Residence in the Island of Jamaica.
New York: Negro Universities Press, 1969, p.112. Originally published 1834.

Document III

Every thing is carried on the head, and it is astonishing what immense loads they [slaves] will convey for a great distance; from eighty to one hundred pounds of their own yams or cocoas is not unusual to be taken to market. When we say their own, we mean that in their possession; because, whether grown on their own ground, or stolen from their master, it is still deemed their own...

SECTION C: MODULE 3

Answer ONE question only from this section.

Question 7

The extracts below relate to the experiences of immigrants to the Caribbean in the nineteenth century, and the impact of the new immigrant population on Caribbean societies. Study them, then answer questions (a) to (c) that follow.

Document I

Of the whole number ... [induced under false pretenses], one third only are still in existence. The rest have fallen victims to the unhealthiness of the climate or to the cruelties of the slavery system to which we, equally with the unfortunate blacks, have been subjected ... Men, women and children have suffered the greatest misery and oppression on the several estates where they have been forced to work far beyond their strength by coercion of the whip, without proper shelter at night or adequate food during the day.

Petition of Portuguese Immigrants to the Governor of Trinidad, 1835
in Shirley C. Gordon, Caribbean Generations, Trinidad & Jamaica: Longman Caribbean Ltd., 1983, p. 176.

Document II

Owing to [the immigrants], pauperism has been introduced into a land where ... it was unknown... As regards coolies, they have likewise suffered from diseases, consequent on the change of the climate [and] they have become, along with the Portuguese, almost the only occupants of the ...hospitals. But the more careful and intelligent among them have had every reason to be satisfied with the advantages of their new position.

British Guianese historian on the Results of Immigration, 1855 in Shirley C. Gordon, Caribbean Generations, p. 178.

Document III

After having watched the action and effect of immigration with great anxiety and care, I have no hesitation in saying that on it depends... the welfare of the island... Without the Coolies...the cultivation of the cane could not be carried on ...
